COVID-19 Update: Insurance Compact Remains Fully Operational

With all the daily change and uncertainty due to the novel coronavirus, COVID-19, the Insurance Compact wanted to remind Compacting States and filers the Insurance Compact's platform is a remote, virtual environment poised to provide seamless reviews at this time. Further, the Insurance Compact is fully staffed, including three full-time credentialed actuaries, to review updated and new product filings.

The Insurance Compact is here to serve the state regulators at this time of transition with the review of insurance products under detailed Uniform Standards. Company filers can submit a single submission under the Insurance Compact Uniform Standards and receive a single review and approval valid in up to 46 jurisdictions.

The Insurance Compact Team will work with filers as they prepare their filings, during, and after review to move product filings through the compliance review process. Filers are encouraged to have a current annual registration in place to facilitate being able to make submissions. Via the Pre-Filing Communication process, the Insurance Compact Team will answer questions to guide filers on the proper filing process, e.g., Supporting Documentation Update, or respond to questions regarding the Uniform Standards.

Last year demonstrated unprecedented filing volumes. The Insurance Compact Team capably addressed and moved filings through the compliance process while ensuring a thorough review and meeting the speed-to-market turnaround times. If a company seeks quicker than normal turnaround times, the Insurance Compact's Expedited Review process is in place and eligible filers may choose to utilize this filing service.

The Insurance Compact Office is available to answer any questions Compacting States or company filers may have regarding Compact product filings.
