Agenda item 3. Presentation of the Consultation and Advisory Services Office Framework and Pilot Eligibility Criteria

The Compact Office described the review and development of the framework for the Consultation and Advisory Services Office (CASO). The initial title of the office contained the word "innovation" and this was changed to "consultation" to be more accurately descriptive of the intent of the services that will be provided. Compact expertise will be used to help companies streamline the development of a new product before it is filed with the states. The pilot project eligibility requirements were outlined, noting that it is desired to have at least 30 states participating in order to make the results of the pilot project most relevant. In addition, the subject of the pilot project has not yet been determined.
